THE FAMILY POLICY COUNCIL OF WEST VIRGINIA ENDORSES

CANDIDATE JOE JEFFERIES
FOR WV STATE HOUSE DISTRICT #22

April 24, 2018 - The Family Policy Council of West Virginia endorses Candidate Joe Jefferies for House of Delegates District #22, in the May 8th Republican primary.

West Virginia's House of Delegates is at a crossroads with the departure of Speaker Tim Armstead. We are fearful that socially liberal Republicans may take control with this election. But we are confident Joe Jefferies is not one of them.

This multi-member district race is important as District 22, has been trading a seat back and forth between the Republicans and Democrats. Joe Jefferies scored 100% on our faith and values candidate survey which means he's a courageous constitutional conservative.

Allen Whitt, President of the Family Policy Council, on the endorsement of Candidate Joe Jefferies, "District 22 needs Joe Jefferies to help the House maintain West Virginia's faithful roots. Being pro-life gets you 25% of the way to being conservative in our book. Joe Jefferies checks in with the other 75% as well."

The Family Policy Council is West Virginia's largest lobbying organization positively impacting laws, lawmakers and if necessary, elections, to defend faith, family and freedom in the Mountain State.
